KIDS NEED TO READ

Inspiring Imagination

The Arizona Chapter of Kids Need to Read and Grow Your Library are partnering with the Copper Queen Library this spring by donating over 700 children's books to the San Jose Library Annex! Founded with a passion to improve the lives of disadvantaged children by providing inspiring book collections and engaging literacy programs to underfunded schools, libraries, and organizations across the nation, Kids Need to Read aspires to empower and embolden every last child through a culture of reading. The organization will also be featured at the library's upcoming Ice Cream Social, which will be held on Friday, May 8th from Noon to 2:00 PM at the San Jose Annex. They will be bringing their Page Coach full of children's books and Highlights Magazines to give away at the event. They will also be hosting a story hour during the annual literacy event. Stay tuned for more information!

2019 SOUTHWEST BOOKS of the year

The Pima County Public Library has announced their picks for their 43rd Annual Southwest Books of the Year for 2019. This year's selections range widely from memoir and biography to history, poetry, and art and photography. As always, it also features some great books for kids.

Here are just a handful of great reads selected by the panelists of voracious consumers of Southwest literature:

Michael Powell's Canyon Dreams, the moving story of a Navajo high school basketball team

Steel on Stone, Nathaniel Farrell Brodie's gripping account of working on a National Park Service trail crew in the Grand Canyon.

Erosion, a timely collection of essays from beloved writer and conservationist, Terry Tempest Williams.

Check out the full list by picking up the library's pamphlet and start reading today! And thank you to the Friends of the Library for sponsoring this year's title winners.

On the Road Since 1925 : The Colorful History of Arizona Highways Magazine

The first issue of Arizona Highways magazine was published in April, 1925. In this presentation, former publisher Win Holden will share the fascinating story of how a brochure produced by the Arizona Highway Department evolved into one of the most respected and revered publications in the world. With annual economic impact of over $65 million, Arizona Highways reaches all 50 states and over 100 countries around the world. But the journey has been anything but uneventful. With a unique publishing model not dependent on advertising, the magazine has had to unearth new sources of revenue to sustain its operations. And, as part of the Arizona Department of Transportation, has had to survive without state funding. Learn how this remarkable magazine has beaten the odds and is thriving in a competitive environment that has seen respected national magazines fall by the wayside.
